

Listening Guide- Episode 4- Wuthering Heights- Emily Brontë
“Marriage, Kidnapping, Co-Dependency and Other Signs of Love”

1. Catherine’s presence dominates and defines both _____ and _____ lives from beginning to the end.
2. Dynamic doesn’t mean you have a lot of personality; it means that you _____ over the course of the story.
3. Gothic novels were really a fad in the late _____ all the way through Brontë’s life.
4. Heroine’s in these novels have a tendency to _____.
5. They play around with the concepts of _____.
6. By Chapter 19, _____ is dead.
7. When parents are healthy, by definition, they do not view their children as _____ of themselves.
8. Enmeshment is the whole idea where you have these emotionally exploitative relationships between _____ and children.
9. Heathcliff even calls him a “puling _____”.
10. Totally controlling the world of a child is something that parent’s do sometimes out of _____ and sometimes out of _____.
11. Just as Mr. Earnshaw took in the orphan child Heathcliff, Edgar is taking in an orphan child named _____.
12. Linton is a perpetual _____.
13. This _____ gives Heathcliff a sense of purpose.
14. Brontë was a real _____ lover.
15. First all the dogs kind of act like their _____.
16. Now Linton is _____, basically to lure Catherine closer and closer to the Heights.
17. _____ always wants her [Cathy] to love him better than her father.
18. “Linton denied that people ever hated their _____; but Cathy affirmed they did.”

19. "He was a well-made, _____ youth, good-looking in features and stout and healthy."
20. During the courtship between Linton and _____, what we see, if we look closely, is that Hareton is always around.
21. When he's talking about "it," he's talking about his _____ Linton.
22. She [Cathy] is going to grow out of her childish weakness and _____ into a more passionate strength and generosity and empathy.
23. She [Cathy] is guided by _____.
24. "He expected to see me again tomorrow, and there he'll be so _____: and he'll wait for me, and I shan't come!"
25. She [Cathy] is actually others regarding, as opposed to her mom who is totally _____.
26. "I pray every night that I may live after him; because I would rather be _____ than that he should be — that proves I love him better than myself."
27. Cathy does have this innate willingness to _____ herself.
28. In Chapter 27, _____ is dying.
29. "You cannot deny that you entered my house of your own accord, in contempt of his _____ to the contrary."
30. Ultimately Heathcliff's _____ has peaked.
31. "I am going to her; and you, _____, shall come to us!"