

Listening Guide- The Crucible-Arthur Miller- Episode 4

“My Name! The Disintegration and Reintegration of John Proctor!”

1. Miller’s personal love story was _____.
2. Unlike Proctor’s love story, Miller’s finally found a _____ ending.
3. Marilyn wasn’t the first Mrs. Miller; his first _____ was to a woman named Mary Slattery, and that marriage lasted _____ years.
4. When Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller met, Miller was the more _____ of the two.
5. She had married Joe DiMaggio first, the professional American _____ player in 1954.
6. She and Miller wrote to each other for about _____ years; eventually their relationship developed into an affair.
7. At the same time he’s in Nevada trying to get _____ and married to Marilyn Monroe, he gets his subpoena to go before the House of Un-American Activities.
8. Monroe made the decision to publicly support _____ through his mess, but it wasn’t without personal and professional risk.
9. Not long after this, Marilyn Monroe finds a _____ of Miller’s supposedly where he was writing a script.
10. During their marriage she had _____ miscarriages and several other problems.
11. On August 5th, 1962, the next year, she _____ of a drug overdose, and Miller did _____ attend her funeral.
12. Miller got it right the third time; his _____ marriage worked well.
13. His daughter Rebecca produced the _____, The Crucible, and married Daniel Day-Louis who happens to star as John Proctor in that production.
14. “I think the _____ feeling is invoked in us when we are in the presence of a character who is ready to lay down his life, if need be, to secure one thing- his sense of personal _____.”
15. There’s another Christian word for sin, and that word is “_____”.
16. He’s transgressed in his responsibility to his _____, to his community, to himself.

17. According to Tituba, the Devil is nicer there because it's not so _____.
18. He doesn't seem to express any _____ of conscious for any harm he's done to anybody.
19. That very night someone left a dagger at his door; people are _____.
20. The real power brokers are the _____.
21. He's recognized that what he has done is _____; in Act 4 we see Hale in the jail.
22. Cognitive psychologists tell us that the human _____ doesn't just perceive the world; our brain creates a story.
23. Sometimes we continue to _____ something well beyond when it's been discredited.
24. He would have to own a terrible _____ of unprecedented proportions.
25. Miller finds what they did absolutely indefensible; he talks about how _____ and how calculating the Putnam's were.
26. "There are people dedicated to _____ in the world."
27. It's the motivations that are interesting to observe as we see these men _____ very differently.
28. Danforth decides to _____ rather than change.
29. He views himself as an adulterer; that was his _____; that is his sin.
30. Proctor loves and respects his _____.
31. Proctor didn't make a mistake; he made a _____.
32. When Elizabeth lies for him, something she had _____ done in her whole life, he knows that's on him too.
33. Proctor asks Elizabeth to _____ him. Her reply has two parts.
34. She's letting it all go, and she's giving him _____ really to do the same.
35. Those words can deliver _____ for him in a way that maybe nothing else could have.
36. "It's hard to give a lie to _____. I would have your forgiveness, Elizabeth."
37. "Whatever you will do, it is a _____ man does it."
38. So Elizabeth gives him a sense of dignity and pride and there's healing in this love; she also gives him _____.
39. "Because it is my _____; because I cannot have another in my life..."
40. Proctor dies with his self-respect. He _____ his life, but humanity won.