

Listening Guide- The Autobiography of Frederick Douglass

Chapters 8-10- Episode 3

1. There is no doubt that Douglass' objective is to convince the world of the _____ of a system.
2. "My long crushed spirit rose; _____ departed; bold defiance took its place."
3. The slavery that Frederick Douglass was a victim of was agriculturally-based and labor intensive; in our _____ in our 21st century, the slavery is very different.
4. It is the dying many times that eventually causes people to be willing to be _____.
5. In chapter 7, when we had left off, he had learned to read; he was living, for a slave, an _____ for a while.
6. When Captain Anthony died, they had to collect all these people and stuff that had been scattered around: the _____, the furniture, the _____.
7. When you live in the cognitive dissonance of dehumanizing _____, there are moments of _____ inside yourself, and you don't know how to resolve them.
8. What's interesting is that Douglass is going to meet up again with Mr. Auld in 1877, which is roughly a little over 30 years _____ this book is published.
9. In the end, Douglass made a special effort to make _____ with Auld.
10. The most important idea of this whole chapter is this concept of _____.
11. "My master found religious sanction for his cruelty," and then he's going to give an _____
12. These are _____ who would have enjoyed beating all kinds of people.
13. He writes these words, new lyrics, "Come _____ and _____ hear me tell, how pious priest whip Jack and Nell, and women buy and children sell."
14. A lot of the abolitionist societies were operated by _____.

15. People who are manipulative and controlling pay the cost for it: They _____ the consequences for it in their own internal selves.
16. Mr. Covey has a contract to own Douglass for _____.
17. For the first six months that he's there, he just gets _____ after beating after beating.
18. An apostrophe, by the way, is a _____; it's when you talk to something that cannot talk to you back.
19. He contrasts his life in the slave state with these _____ that seem like they have endless freedom.
20. "You have seen how a _____ was made a _____; you shall see how a _____ was made a _____."
21. He says, "If you will carry it always on your right side, it will be _____ for Mr. Covey or any other white man to whip you."
22. You have to be amazed that Douglass, _____, has actually a scientific mind.
23. "This battle with Mr. Covey was the _____ in my career as a slave."
24. What can you do to make yourself feel more _____? Douglass has a statement about that, and that is _____.
25. He figures out later; he thinks about it later; he didn't want to _____ he got whipped by a slave.
26. Covey knew he had been bested, and from that point on there's a _____ change.
27. Covey ironically is the man Douglass credits for making him a _____.
28. At one time he had over 40 scholars that he's teaching to _____.
29. He learns a skill of how to caulk and _____ and things of that nature.
30. "Whenever my condition was _____ instead of increasing my contentment it only increased my desire to be _____."